Laboratory Procedures

Tazarotenic acid is supplied as a crystalline solid. A stock solution may be made by dissolving the tazarotenic acid in the solvent of choice, which should be purged with an inert gas. Tazarotenic acid is soluble in organic solvents such as DMSO and dimethyl formamide. The solubility of tazarotenic acid in these solvents is approximately 30 mg/ml.

Tazarotenic acid is sparingly soluble in aqueous buffers. For maximum solubility in aqueous buffers, tazarotenic acid should first be dissolved in DMSO and then diluted with the aqueous buffer of choice. Tazarotenic acid has a solubility of approximately 0.2 mg/ml in a 1:4 solution of DMSO:PBS (pH 7.2) using this method. We do not recommend storing the aqueous solution for more than one day.

Description

Tazarotenic acid is a retinoic acid receptor (RAR) agonist and an active metabolite of the retinoid prodrug tazarotene (Item No. 23559).<sup>1</sup> It induces reporter gene expression in DK7-NR cells expressing human RARα, RARβ, or RARγ (EC<sub>50</sub>s = 11, 2.5, and 11 nM, respectively). Topical application of tazarotenic acid (0.1% w/w) reduces ear edema in a mouse model of epidermal inflammation induced by phorbol 12-myristate 13-acetate (PMA; Item No. 10008014).
