Laboratory Procedures

Kavain is supplied as a crystalline solid. A stock solution may be made by dissolving the kavain in the solvent of choice. Kavain is soluble in organic solvents such as ethanol, DMSO, and dimethyl formamide (DMF), which should be purged with an inert gas. The solubility of kavain in ethanol is approximately 5 mg/ml and approximately 25 mg/ml in DMSO and DMF.

Description

Kavain is a kavalactone and the major constituent of the pepper plant kava (P. methysticum) and has diverse biological activities.¹⁻⁴ It is a positive allosteric modulator of αβ2δ subunit-containing GABA_A receptors with EC₅₀ values of 25 and 59 μM in the presence and absence of 300 μM kavain, respectively, in Xenopus oocytes expressing human receptors.¹ Kavain reduces growth of WPMY-1 prostate cancer cells (IC₅₀ = 5.2 μg/ml).² It reduces LPS-induced TNF-α production in primary murine macrophages in a concentration-dependent manner.³ In vivo, kavain (1 mg/animal) reduces hind paw swelling and TNF-α production in wild-type, but not Erk^{-/-}, mice in a mouse model of collagen-induced arthritis. Kavain also reduces acetic acid-induced abdominal constrictions in mice (ED₅₀ = 15.71 mg/kg).⁴
