Laboratory Procedures

Vorasidenib is supplied as a crystalline solid. A stock solution may be made by dissolving the vorasidenib in the solvent of choice, which should be purged with an inert gas. Vorasidenib is soluble in organic solvents such as DMSO and dimethyl formamide. The solubility of vorasidenib in these solvents is approximately 30 mg/ml.

Vorasidenib is sparingly soluble in aqueous buffers. For maximum solubility in aqueous buffers, vorasidenib should first be dissolved in DMSO and then diluted with the aqueous buffer of choice. Vorasidenib has a solubility of approximately 0.33 mg/ml in a 1:2 solution of DMSO:PBS (pH 7.2) using this method. We do not recommend storing the aqueous solution for more than one day.

Description

Vorsidenib is an inhibitor of mutant isocitrate dehydrogenase (IDH; IC₅₀s = 31.9 and 31.7 nM for IDH1^{R132H} and IDH2^{R140Q}, respectively).¹ It also inhibits wild-type-IDH1^{R132H} and wild-type-IDH2^{R140Q} heterodimers (IC₅₀s = 4 and 251 nM, respectively).² Vorsidenib decreases the production of D-2-hydroxyglutarate (2-HG; Item Nos. 25895 | 11605) in TF-1 leukemia cells expressing IDH1^{R132H} or IDH2^{R140Q} (IC₅₀s = 3.2 and 14 nM, respectively). It reduces tumor growth in a TS603-IDH1^{R132H} mouse xenograft model when administered at a dose of 50 mg/kg.³
