Laboratory Procedures

7,3',4'-Trihydroxyflavone is supplied as a crystalline solid. A stock solution may be made by dissolving the 7,3',4'-trihydroxyflavone in the solvent of choice, which should be purged with an inert gas. 7,3',4'-Trihydroxyflavone is soluble in DMSO and DMF. The solubility of 7,3',4'-trihydroxyflavone in these solvents is 5 mg/ml.

Description

7,3',4'-Trihydroxyflavone is a flavonoid that has been found in A. julibrissin bark and has diverse biological activities.¹⁻⁴ It scavenges 2,2-diphenyl-1-picrylhydrazyl (DPPH; Item No. 14805) and peroxynitrite radicals in cell-free assays (IC_{50} s = 2.2 and 5.78 μM, respectively), as well as reduces total reactive oxygen species in rat kidney homogenates (IC_{50} = 3.9 μM).¹ 7,3',4'-Trihydroxyflavone inhibits COX-1 (IC_{50} = 36.7 μM).² It is active against M. tuberculosis (MIC = 50 μg/ml).⁴ It decreases mRNA expression of the osteoclastic marker genes encoding the calcitonin receptor, cathepsin K1 V-ATPase V0 subunit d2 (Atp6v0d2), and dendritic cell specific transmembrane protein (Dcstamp) in and inhibits RANKL-induced osteoclastic differentiation of mouse bone marrow-derived macrophages (BMDMs).⁴
