Laboratory Procedures

C6 ceramide (d18:1/6:0) is supplied as a crystalline solid. A stock solution may be made by dissolving the C6 ceramide (d18:1/6:0) in an organic solvent purged with an inert gas. C6 ceramide (d18:1/6:0) is soluble in organic solvents such as ethanol, DMSO, and dimethyl formamide. The solubility of C6 ceramide (d18:1/6:0) in these solvents is approximately 20 mg/ml.

C6 ceramide (d18:1/6:0) is sparingly soluble in aqueous buffers. For maximum solubility in aqueous buffers, C6 ceramide (d18:1/6:0) should first be dissolved in ethanol and then diluted with the aqueous buffer of choice. C6 ceramide (d18:1/6:0) has a solubility of approximately 0.5 mg/ml in a 1:1 solution of ethanol:PBS (pH 7.2) using this method. We do not recommend storing the aqueous solution for more than one day.

Description

C6 ceramide is a cell-permeable analog of naturally occurring ceramides. With a longer carbon chain than C2 ceramide, it is somewhat more hydrophobic, and may more closely mimic the effects of natural ceramides.<sup>1</sup> C6 ceramide mediates many diverse biological activities including apoptosis,<sup>2</sup> activation of protein phosphatase 2A,<sup>3,4</sup> and inhibition of the mitochondrial respiratory chain.<sup>5</sup> It also enhances the expression of COX-2 in rat granulosa cells<sup>4</sup> and stimulates the growth of bovine aortic smooth muscle cells.<sup>6</sup> C6 ceramide acts in neuronal axons to inhibit neurite growth.<sup>7</sup>
