Laboratory Procedures

1-(4-Fluorophenyl)-2-methyl-2-propylamine is supplied as a solution in ethanol. To change the solvent, simply evaporate the ethanol under a gentle stream of nitrogen and immediately add the solvent of choice. Solvents such as ethanol, DMSO, and dimethyl formamide purged with an inert gas can be used. The solubility of 1-(4-fluorophenyl)-2-methyl-2-propylamine in these solvents is approximately 30 mg/ml.

Further dilutions of the stock solution into aqueous buffers or isotonic saline should be made prior to performing biological experiments. Ensure that the residual amount of organic solvent is insignificant, since organic solvents may have physiological effects at low concentrations. If an organic solvent-free solution of 1-(4-fluorophenyl)-2-methyl-2-propylamine is needed, it can be prepared by evaporating the ethanol and directly dissolving the neat oil in aqueous buffers. The solubility of 1-(4-fluorophenyl)-2-methyl-2-propylamine in PBS, pH 7.2, is approximately 2 mg/ml. We do not recommend storing the aqueous solution for more than one day.

Description

1-(4-Fluorophenyl)-2-methyl-2-propylamine is a fluorinated building block used for the synthesis of various pharmaceutical amides.
